His Excellency, the Governor, transmitted by Mr. Wellford, his Private Secretary, to the House, the following communication, to wit:—

EXECUTIVE OFFICE.

JANUARY, 1835.

To the Legislative Council of Florida:—

In meeting with you for the first time, it affords me much pleasure, to be enabled to congratulate you on the healthfulness of the Country; and on the general prosperity which is attendant on the agricultural pursuits and industry of the people; and to offer you, as I frankly do, the assurance, that every co-operation in my power, will be cheerfully extended to aid you, still further to advance the prosperity of the Territory. While in all communities, enactments and penalties are necessary to be resorted to, permit me to say that too much, and too frequent legislating, are never advisable. Perspicuity, certainty and uniformity, in the laws, more than any thing else are desirable; because thereby the citizens are enabled to understand, and practice those things, which are required of them; but which cannot be known, where frequent changes in legislation are tolerated, except to persons engaged in professional pursuits.

The Executive Department of a Territory, acting within its proper sphere, can have nothing to do with the affairs of the general government. These are without the scope of its influence and action; and hence, whether as regards approval or censure, should be alike exempt from interference. It will not be questioned, but that every citizen possesses an undeniable right to entertain and to express opinions, as to the administration and course of the government; but official agents here, acting as such, should consider themselves restricted to the affairs and business of the Territory. Governed by this salutary rule, my course will be, to bring to your consideration, from time to time, such matters, only, as may be conceived necessary to advance the quiet, well being and prosperity of the citizens of Florida. Objects of this character will demand attention on your part; from me, they shall at all times, receive a prompt and ready support. In the management of such affairs, harmony is altogether essential; and to attain this, each department should be content to move in its own orbit—neither claiming, or asserting a right to exercise authority, which rightfully belongs to the other. The beauty and good order of all governments, depend upon a strict regard, and rigid adherence to those well poised ballances, which organic rules impose.

There are matters of importance to this section of our country, which should not fail to interest those who are charged with the management of the affairs of the Territory. Altho' some of them are of a character upon which no definite and conclusive action can be had by you; yet the reasons which may be drawn in aid of applications to be addressed to Congress, can not fail to carry with them, such convincing force, as to have their proper effect.

An accurate survey of the coast of Florida, is of interest, not merely to the people of this Territory; but to the whole union. A statistical view of the country will show that more than a third, and nearly one half, of the whole export trade of the United States passes through the Gulf of Mexico, and the tributary streams which belong to it. Interest being the influencing consideration, by which mankind are governed, it cannot be presumed, that those who are authorized to dispense favors, if favors they are called, can hesitate to foster this most important commercial channel. Notwithstanding the many facilities and advantages it affords, it is yet without that protecting care, from the government, which its importance demands. Its soundings are the principal criteria by which navigators are enabled to determine their true position off the land; and these are insecurely to be relied on. The employed charts, are compilations from French and British research, and these being examinations of years gone by, must necessarily be imperfect, from the effect of tempests, and from the many alterations introduced by the currents, which have changed the bars, and varied the depth of the water. The frequent accidents which happen, from inaccurate reckonings, and the consequent driving on shore, serve to prove how necessary it is for some precautionary measures to be resorted to, by which a recurrence of them for the future, may be prevented. There are important and neglected points, too, where light houses are needful and necessary, to protect commerce, and give security to our coast navigators. The cost, contrasted with the advantages to be derived from them is not worthy to be considered.

Internal improvements within a Territory, it is believed, have not been questioned on constitutional grounds. The Executive has not interposed objections as to the right of making appropriations in favor of such undertakings, when satisfied of their expediency and general advantage. Under this state of things, and when objections do not arise as to the exercise of any constitutional power, measures calculated to advance the interest of the Territory, and particularly when standing in connexion with the general interest of the States, should receive, as they deserve to receive, marked attention. The time may possibly soon go by, when those advantages will be retained. Ere long this Territory may become a State, clothed with all the rights and privileges of the older members of this confederacy, subject to her self control, and governed exclusively by her own regulations, without dependence on, or aid to be derived from any source except her own councils and her limited resources. When this event shall take place, those improvements so desirable and useful, must and will encounter all those objections which are so repeatedly urged in favor of the sovereignty of a State. Hence do wise considerations dictate to present agents, not to neglect the golden opportunity which is before them; but at once to press those claims which reason and policy sanction; and strongly to solicit Congress to hear their application, and to act. The appeal cannot fail of success. It is not Florida merely that is concerned, but the western States; and the entire commercial and navigating interest of the United States. These will join with, and support you. It is their interest to do so; and what interest dictates to be pursued, is rarely, if ever neglected. The annual losses sustained along the coast of Florida concerns the States and the people of the States; and they, as much as the citizens of this Territory, should entertain an anxious desire to see patronised whatever measures may be calculated to give a different and better aspect to things. Were the losses which have been sustained, within a few years past, accurately computed, they would perhaps be found equal to the expenditures of all the proposed improvements. It is recommended to you that these things be considered—that probable losses sustained be calculated, accurately as any obtainable data can be had; and the whole submitted to the paternal care and guardianship of the General Government, that their wisdom may be brought to act upon them. I admit they are not matters, which properly pertain to your legislative characters, tho in some degree they stand in connexion with them, as affording you at least the opportunity of bringing to the consideration of Congress, by respectful enactment, those things, which, being unadvised by you they may not be informed of; they will doubtless obtain that attention and consideration which their importance merits. These suggested improvements are not to be considered merely in reference to the commercial; but also to the military operations and defences of the country. Large expenditures have been incurred in building a Navy Yard for constructing ships of war, and in erecting a Fort to protect the harbour of Pensacola, that in time of danger and of war, vessels navigating the gulf, may find safety under its guns, against any superior force. But on the land side, reliance for defence and protection must be had on the Militia. The settlements for any such purpose and for furnishing necessary supplies are too sparse in the vicinity of Pensacola; and hence in case of war, the interior must be resorted to. To make this resort effectual, roads calculated to ensure expedition are needful and necessary to be undertaken, either by the public, or by a grant of such advantageous charters as may induce enterprising capitalists to embark in their construction.

Common roads also require attention. As the labor of a country constitutes its wealth, it is wise to guard it against all unnecessary exactions, and to afford in aid of it, all proper facilities. If owing to bad roads, increased expense be incurred, in conveying the products of the soil to market, and bringing back other articles for consumption, it must of course operate as a tax upon the laborer. But beside this, delays which are the consequence of neglected roads; and a failure to reach the market when prices are good, and fluctuating, often cause material injury to the buyer and to the producer. It is submitted therefore, if policy does not suggest the propriety of some wholesome and effectual legislation, by which roads may be preserved in proper order, and hazardous streams be rendered at all times passable. Good highways are not to be looked for, so long as their preservation is regulated after the present plan. The practiced mode here as in other places of confiding them to the custody of some citizen of the neighborhood, who for a time is made to act as overseer, is found to be wholly ineffectual. These agents cannot call upon the neighbours, for their laboring hands, without being under the obligation also to furnish their own; and it being scarcely ever exactly convenient for them to do this, none are called for: and hence the roads remain in a condition to exhaust the teams, and to wear out the wagons which are travelled over them. Those roads which are mostly used, should be enumerated; and some fund, other than the labor of the neighborhood be set apart for the purpose of keeping them in good order and in proper repair. Of this I feel confident the farmers will not complain, for the experiment being fairly made, they will discover it to be the easiest and best mode, and eventually will prove to be the cheapest.

A close attention to the collection of the revenue of the Territory; and to its economical and faithful disbursement are subjects of the first importance. In imposing necessary demands on the citizens, uniformity should be regarded, that every species of property, may alike in some degree contribute, for that protection which it derives from government. The present plan of collecting, seems to demand improvement. Instead of having persons appointed to this responsible trust, by the County Courts, which may be assumed or declined at pleasure, it would be preferable to make it the official duty of sheriffs of the respective Counties, to undertake the trust of collecting and accounting for the revenue; and beside placing them under bond, with ample securities, to require that none shall be re-eligible to office, who fails to produce at the time of his election a receipt from the auditor for all monies in his hands, belonging to the public; and in case of any default in payment, the auditor to be authorised and directed, before the Superior Court at Tallahassee, to have a judgement, on motion, rendered for the amount unaccounted for, with such damages by way of penalty as may insure punctuality. This will be a simple and plain mode of effecting a beneficial end. The entire business will be under the care and direction of your fiscal agent here, more directly, than by forwarding delinquencies to the different counties, as is now the case, there to be prosecuted to judgement; and withall, having full notice of what the law requires when the office is assumed, your collectors will be without any just cause of complaint as to the manner; or as to the suggested summary jurisdiction of the court. By referring to the report of the auditor, who is charged with the fiscal department, it will be seen, that nearly two-thirds of the assessed revenue, which was due and payable on the 30th of Nov. 1833, yet remains, unpaid: and the same proportion of the revenue accruing in the past year, is also outstanding and unsettled. These facts go clearly to show that some mode of collecting more effectual than the present should be essayed, or constant derangement must attend your finances.

Your criminal code appears to me to need revision and correction. Desirable as it may be to restrain the vicious propensities of mankind, experience shows, that it cannot be effectually done. Occasionally, passion will outstrip the judgement, and lead persons to the commission of acts, which even by the offending party is often repented and repented of, when brought back to cooler moments, and to a sound reflection. But where the law imposes penalties disproportioned to the offence committed; or when disgraceful punishments are inflicted, instead of occasioning reformation which should be the object of punishments, a converse effect is most generally produced. The offender being stamped with ignominy, is thereafter, rendered a useless and dangerous member in society. Corporal punishment, on a free citizen, is hardly now to be met with in any criminal code. It has been stricken from our army regulations; and should be stricken from your Statute book. No hope of reform or feeling, other than cherished hatred of country, can reasonably be expected from any one, who shall be so harshly, and so ignominiously dealt with by the law.

It is advisable, too, that the right confided to Juries of fixing, at their discretion, penalties and punishments be taken away. As the practice now is, they are first required to determine the guilt or innocence of the accused. Next whether if guilty, the penalty shall be fine or imprisonment or Corporal punishment, and lastly, having agreed as to these, the quantum of punishment to be extended becomes a matter of difficult solution; for on all these points, the jury must be unanimous in their determination. Thus, by referring to them, three perplexing inquiries in the same case, their difficulties are increased, and the chances of conviction for crime diminished. The law ought to affix adequate and certain penalties to each enumerated offence. The guilt or innocence of the accused should rest with the jury, and when ascertained, the Court alone should declare such judgement as by the statute may be authorised.

Instances occur where persons charged with crime flee from the States into this Territory. Recently a demand was made by the Governor of Georgia, with a certified copy of the indictment forwarded, and a citizen was required to be delivered over to an agent specially charged to receive him. To meet such emergencies, the act of Congress of 1793 is not sufficiently explicit; nor is there any directory statute here, which affords further information than is given by that act. It says, that in case of application, it shall be the duty of the Executive "to cause said person to be arrested and secured." But how to be arrested? Shall the Executive direct the marshal or the sheriff to do it? The law does not make it their duty; nor does it impose a penalty for the omission. Shall a public proclamation go forth to all officers, civil and military, requiring and commanding them to make the arrest? The effect of such publicity, by warning the party of his danger, may be to enable him to elude the demand and to make his escape.

But the Executive shall cause the offender "to be secured." Again, the manner is not prescribed. Shall he, when he is arrested, be placed in close jail?—or the offence being of a character to authorise it, shall he be admitted to bail? Being arrested within this Territory, shall he be denied that privilege, which in the State where the offence was committed, he could claim and receive.—These are difficulties in reference to cases which have arisen, and which may arise again; and I respectfully submit to you, whether some legislative enactment be not necessary to explain all future doubts and difficulties that may take place.

There is another subject in connection with your criminal law which is worthy to be considered. As the rule exists at present, when a slave is executed, the master or owner is entitled to claim the assessed value of his property. This rule has obtained upon a construction of that constitutional provision, which declares that private property shall not be taken for public uses, without making just compensation therefor, but the idea is a misconceived one. It is not taking the property for public uses. The slave who violates a law, is amenable to the law; and where his life becomes the forfeit of his crime, it is an expiation to its demands and not a taking for public purposes. As well might it be pretended, that the life of a white man who has been guilty of a felony, is taken for public purposes, and the forfeiture be made a charge on the public treasury.

Owners in some degree should be held responsible for the correct deportment of their slaves. Privileges incompatible with their situation and condition in life, ought not to be extended, in as much as the effect of such treatment is to do them injury. That this may be avoided, is it not advisable to hold the owner so far responsible for a faithful guardianship over his slave, that in case of his becoming answerable to the law, he should receive, if any thing, not more than a third or half his value? Such a course will make the master more careful of his servants, and more particular not to concede to them those privileges, which in the end may impair their usefulness, and with it, the peace and good order of society. How unjust, too, is it, in a case where one slave murders another, that while the owner of the one receives no remuneration, the other by the law, is to be fully compensated. In such a case, if payment be extended, it should be decreed, that the owners of each be alike and equally reimbursed: certainly this should be the case, if reason in such matters is to be consulted, and justice regarded.

That part of the Statute of 1832, which seeks to repress gaming, is found to be entirely ineffectual. In open day, and in view even of the public authorities, the practice is indulged in. In other places, as in this Territory, repeated attempts to arrest it, have been unsuccessfully made; and with all the penalties, which from time to time have been declared, nothing of success has been reached. One of two remedies should be resorted to.—Instead of imposing a fine as a preventive, for seldom in that way can any who infract the law be reached, let imprisonment be resorted to, that the individual who offends, and not his family may be made to suffer: or otherwise make it a subject of revenue to the Territory, and thus tolerate a practice, which by experiments made, is found so difficult to be restrained. It is questionable, if the latter mode will not prove to be the preferable one. By attaching heavy penalties, the effect is, to compel those who are disposed to violate the law, into secret places, where hidden from the view of friends who might interpose and restrain them, the inexperienced and unwary, are often times involved in ruin. Legalise it!! Derive revenue from the practice! But at the same time, that none may play beyond his actually possessed money capital, let it be declared, that all contracts, promises and agreements, shall be utterly void, which rest upon, or are in any wise connected with considerations of hazard.

Permit me to say that to afford the means of education has always been a desirable consideration with thoughtful legislators. It is the essential means by which free governments are to be maintained. To effect this, let it be declared by law, that all sums accruing from fines and penalties shall constitute a fund, for establishing at some healthy position, a respectable Academy for the education of youth. The Executive will be more reluctant to remit penalties to offenders when they are thus advantageously to be applied; and even if an excessive fine be at any time exacted from some violator of the laws, he will derive satisfaction from knowing that if injustice is done to him, the sum paid will go to form the youthful mind, and give future character and benefit to the country. In a few years the fund thus created, may come to be, an important one, and be fully adequate to the end and object suggested.

A report from the Central Bank of Florida; and one from the Bank of Pensacola accompanies this message in conformity to the provisions of an act passed the 9th of February 1833—The Union Bank has not yet gone into operation: but will do so, it is expected in a few days.

Commissioners have been appointed, tho' nothing definitive has taken place, relative to the Act of the last session entitled "An Act to provide for the completion of the capitol." To me, no report has been made. It will be in the power of the Commissioners, at the present session, to give you information of the exact condition of the Tallahassee fund, and thereby enable you to determine, what other and further legislation will be necessary to accomplish the objects of that law.

By an act of Congress passed the 18th June last, some expenditures considered by the Legislative Council to be necessary, were repealed and annulled; and thenceforth it was enacted, that the entire annual expense should not exceed $ 7,000. This amount is short of what is necessary; Congress, however, has declared otherwise, and it is not for us to call their decision in question; but to restrict all future expenditures to the rule thus laid down and prescribed. Economy should be practised by all governments, that the people may have nothing of unnecessary exaction imposed; and could any thing of prodigal expenditure be imputed or perceived; so far from encouraging, I should be ready to reprove it. The exports from this territory are considerable, and are increasing; and the consumption in return, on which duties are paid, and whence revenue is derived to the General Government, is correspondently so. That revenue much exceeds what is expended within your limits.

But the presented question is not one of Dollars and cents: in that point of view, it is of little importance. Higher considerations are involved. This Territory being clothed with authority to select representatives to manage and control their internal domestic affairs, the question is whether when such rights exist, Congress should not permit the Representatives of the people to present to them what is, or is not, a reasonable expenditure of public money. Were extravagance practiced, which cannot justly be imputed, then might a pretext arise for inhibitions to be imposed, and then they should be imposed. Estimates for the present year, have been forwarded to the Treasury Department, based upon the declarations and requirements contained in the act of Congress to which I have alluded. But I respectfully suggest to you, to take the matter under advisement, and present to the view of the government what, in your opinion, may be thought necessary to an economical administration of affairs here, with such reasons as may be considered proper, that at a future period the same may be presented to the consideration of Congress. Thereafter you will know, on what to rely, and to what extent your expenditures may proceed.

To the President and Legislative Council:

The undersigned respectfully reports, that the annexed Account Current exhibits the principle transactions in his department of the Treasury, during the past year to the 30th November last.

From the Auditor of the Treasury, you will receive statements of the delinquents to the Territory, and of the claims Audited by him against it for the past year, and also of the arrears due to, and from the Territory, prior to that time.

From my Report at the last Session, of the 13th January, it will be seen, that there was in the hands of the Commissioner of the City of Tallahassee, the sum of three hundred and seventy-six dollars and sixty-six cents. On the 17th February, Turbutt R. Betton, Esq. was removed from office as Commissioner, when he reported, and rendered his accounts, showing a balance in his hands, of fifteen hundred and seventy dollars and fifteen cents, since which no Report has been made to this Department by the present Commissioner, but recently, the late Commissioner filed in this office a receipt from Willis Alston, Esq. Commissioner, for the balance in his hands, which balance I have transferred to the account of said Alston. I am informed, a Report with the proper accounts, will, in a few days, be made to the Council, showing the state and situation of the Tallahassee Fund.

Respectfully submitted,

Your Obedt. Serv't.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Tallahassee, Jan. 6, 1835. }

To the Hon. John Warren,
President of the Legislative Council:—

Sir—The Auditor of the Public Accounts, has the honor to Report to the Legislative Council, the state of the Finances for the Territory of Florida for the fiscal year ending the 30th November, 1834.

Exhibit, No. 1, is a statement and settlement of Accounts with the Territorial Treasurer.

Exhibit, No. 2, is a general statement of the Revenue of the Territory, by which it will be seen that only eleven Counties have made returns to this department during the last fiscal year, viz: The Counties of Walton, Franklin, Jackson, Gadsden, Leon, Jefferson, Hamilton, Nassau, Duval, St. John's and Munroe, and that five only of those have made payment into the Treasury, viz: Franklin, Jackson, Leon, Jefferson and Hamilton. The Counties of Escambia, Washington, Madison, Alachua, Columbia, Mosquito and Hillsborough, have made no returns of Taxes to this Department; and it will also be seen that there has been no Returns of Auction Tax of consequence except from the Cities of Pensacola and Tallahassee.

Exhibit, No. 3, shows the amount which has been received into the Treasury on Account of Arrears during the last fiscal year, with the amount now due.

Exhibit, No. 4, shews the situation of the Finances of the Territory, leaving a balance in favor of the Territory of $5197 90 1-2, not estimating the Revenue due from seven Counties, from which no returns have been received, and the Auction Tax, which is due from Auctioneers who have not made report to this Department, and which will exceed any amount of Treasury bills, and Treasury Commissioners Certificates, which may not yet have been redeemed, or any amount of claims against the Territory, which have not yet been Audited. So that it will clearly appear that the Revenue of the Territory is fully equal to its expenses, if a faithful and prompt collection and payment into the Treasury could be enforced, and to this subject, I respectfully call the attention of the members of the Legislative Council. I would also suggest the propriety of changing the fiscal year, so that it would end during the session of the Legislative Council, instead (as at present) on the 30th day of November.

Very respectfully,

Your most Obed't. Serv't.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, }
January 19th, 1835. }

To the Legislative Council.

Diligent search has been made in this office for a "memorial to Congress, adopted by the Legislative Council

"at their Session of 1832, praying the establishment of an additional judicial district, to be composed of the Counties of Gadsden, Jackson and Franklin," agreeably to a Resolution of the Council, passed the 17th instant. The search has proved unavailing.

It has not been the practice of the Secretary of the Territory, to preserve a record of the proceedings of the Council, except in cases when the Governor interposes objections to any act done by the Council, no record of their doings, has been made upon the Executive books. A full and complete narrative of their proceedings, being placed upon the Journals of the House, it has been considered, and perhaps rightfully, that no notice of them is necessary to be had, on the records, proper, of this office, accordingly, reference was had, but with no successful result, to the journals of 1832, to ascertain if the memorial could be found there.

That from a careful investigation of the facts, they find that the said petitioner was employed by the Legislative Council of 1829, as one of the clerks to that body :—that for his services as such he became entitled, (according to the ratio adopted) to the sum of two hundred and ninety-nine dollars, but owing to a deficiency in the appropriation made by Congress, to meet the expenditures of that session, the said petitioner received by way of compensation for said services only the sum of one hundred and ninety-six dollars and thirty one and a fourth cents, leaving a balance still due of one hundred and two dollars and sixty-nine cents.

Your committee being fully convinced of the justice of this claim, are anxiously solicitous that some measure should be adopted, by which its speedy adjustment could be ensured. From the very limited amount of the appropriation for the expenses of this session, the committee are convinced that they would be trenching upon the rights of others, should they recommend that this claim be settled out of that appropriation, they would therefore respectfully suggest that the claim be recommended to the justice of Congress, and that the same may receive the Legislative sanction of this body: they beg leave to recommend the adoption of the following resolutions.

1st. Resolved by the Legislative Council of the Territory of Florida, That the Delegate in Congress from this Territory, be and he is hereby requested to use his best efforts to obtain from Congress a speedy settlement of the claim set forth in the foregoing report.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, }
24th January, 1835.

To the Legislative Council of the Territory of Florida.

I have this day signed and approved "an act to divorce James Johnson and Dorathea Johnson"

I return to you an act to repeal an act, entitled an act to incorporate the City of Key West.

This act provides in case of refusal by the Mayor, Alderman, &c. to pay over certain monies declared to be in their hands, that for each refusal, a judgement instant shall be rendered, and that no appeal from any such judgement shall be taken.

This provision contravenes the first section of an act of Congress passed the 15th of May, 1826, entitled "an act to amend the several acts for the establishment of a Territorial Government in Florida," which declares, that the Superior Courts of the Territory, shall have "appellate jurisdiction of all crimes and offences committed against the laws of the Territory."

Imposing a penalty, as this act does, for omitting the performance of any duty required, constitutes an offence, where the omission takes place. A refusal to pay, is declared to be an offence, punishable by a fine of fifty dollars in a summary way, and the right of appeal, by which any error may be corrected is inhibited. Believing this to be a violation of the act of Congress referred to, I return the bill, that this objectionable feature may be removed by the Council.

Mr. Bellamy offered the following Preamble and Resolutions:

Whereas, the river Ocilla runs through one of the most fertile portions of Florida, and also in two Counties of the State of Georgia; but in consequence of the obstructions to the navigation of said river, at and above the "Natural Bridge," the public lands contiguous to said river are rendered of much less value than they would be, were such obstructions removed, and in consequence, a great portion of the same, has been unsold, and yet remains the property of the United States: and whereas, the settlement, growth, and prosperity of the Territory is thereby greatly retarded: and whereas, upon a survey of said river, by an Engineer of the United States, now on file in the Engineer Department in Washington, it has been estimated that the obstruction, at the Natural Bridge, could be removed by the judicious expenditure of ten thousand dollars: And whereas, in consequence of the General Government, being the principal proprietor of the property which will be benefitted by said work, it is considered that Congress should make the necessary appropriation for the same: And whereas, the people of this Territory memorialized Congress at its session of 1831, for such aid, the same being transmitted to the Delegate from Florida for presentation; and as it is highly important to the citizens resident contiguous to said river, that such improvements in the navigation should be made as early as possible;

Be it therefore Resolved, By the Legislative Council of Florida, that the Delegate in Congress, from said Territory, be requested to use his efforts to have such appropriation made at the present session of Congress, and that the Chief Clerk forward, forthwith, this Preamble, and these Resolutions to him.

And be it further Resolved, That the President of the Council forward another copy thereof to the Delegation in Congress from the State of Georgia, and respectfully call their attention to, and solicit their aid in support of such measure.

Braden, Duval, Edwards, Macon, and Walker—5. So the said report was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Blount, the said resolutions, in the words following, to wit:

Mr. Edwards offers the following resolutions: Whereas the impolicy of confiding to a single house of representatives the power of framing laws for large communities of varied interests, is no longer a matter of theory or speculation. Its evils are so fully demonstrated by the unerring test of experience as to be universally admitted,—Rashness and imprudence of legislation, endless change of statutory enactments, general confusion and chaos of the law, and perpetual fluctuation of the public policy form part only of the acknowledge and deplorable consequences growing out of the action of a single legislative assembly, annually elected and subject only to the check of the executive veto.

The experiment now being made in Florida adds another confirmation to the axiom in political science, established by past ages and actual examples.—The total failure of the scheme to secure a happy social organization, and a wise, and wholesome code of laws is obvious to every man in the Territory, and that our fellow citizens should be generally dissatisfied with the existing system is neither wonder nor dispute. The people assiduously desire a reform which will assimilate their government in a most important feature to those under which most of them were born and educated, and which would promise them a like security for the engagements of a system of steady and beneficial legislation.

Be it therefore resolved, That our Delegate, in Congress, be requested to urge upon the consideration of that body, the importance of constituting a senatorial branch in our Territorial Legislature, to consist of at least three Senators from the Eastern, three Senators from the Middle, three Senators from the Western and one Senator from the Southern Judicial District of Florida.—Were adopted.

His Excellency the Governor transmitted to the House the following Message, by Mr. Wellford, his private Secretary:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Feb 2d, 1835.

To the Legislative Council of the Territory of Florida:

I have approved and signed "An act to prevent any person in this Territory from carrying arms secretly." And "An act to authorise James Stewart to build a bridge across the Ocklocknee river." And have disapproved "An act to make permanent the County Seat of Madison county, and for other purposes."

This Act is imperfect in its details. There is no authority given to the judge to appoint a clerk, to preserve the records of the Court; nor is the clerk of Jefferson, where the business for Madison county is now transacted, required and directed to transfer the suits of any, which now remain upon his docket.

But a more material objection arises. By referring to the Election returns, on file in this office, for a Delegate to Congress in 1832, it appears that only seventy votes were taken within the county; and at the Elections of last September for the Legislative Council, only sixty-five votes were taken. In this Territory, all residents, who are of full age can vote; but on juries, none but free, or householders, can serve; of course there must be fewer of the latter than of the former.

Thus to transfer the jurisdiction, where it at present attaches, from Jefferson to Madison, may have the effect, to render your criminal code entirely nugatory. When the grand and traverse jury—the number of peremptory challenges which are allowed, together with those who may have formed or expressed opinions, are calculated, the computation may most likely exceed the number of impartial triers which the Courts can furnish. Hence offenders might avoid a trial, unless the venue were changed. But as this is a privilege to the prisoner, not the government, it follows, that no change could take place, but at the defendant's application. This, in highly aggravated cases, would not be asked; and hence, at his mere pleasure, the ends and object of the laws and of justice, would be put aside; for, by a statute of November, 1828, presumed yet to be in force, it is declared, if a prisoner "be not tried at, or before the third term, after his examination, he shall forever be discharged from the crime."

JNO. H. EATON, Governor of Florida.

And thereupon, on motion of Mr. Bellamy, the bill entitled "An Act to make permanent the County seat of Madison County and for other purposes," is ordered to be reconsidered, and is referred to the Committee on the State of the Territory.

On motion of Mr. Downing, the House resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole on the bill entitled "An Act to incorporate the Southern Life Insurance and Trust Company." K

The committee of Claims, to whom was referred the claim of Joseph B. Watts—Report,

That the claim of said Watts is for the reward of $200 offered by the Acting Governor of Florida, for the apprehension of his own slave Ben, accused of the murder of another negro. The committee have examined into the case and heard evidence of disinterested persons, whom they called before them for information, and it appears that after the homicide was committed, there is strong reason to suspect said negro was secretly harboured by his master; and the day after the reward was published, was produced by him on demand to the marshal, who was in search of him. The committee do not consider this a case within the spirit of the law allowing rewards, nor entitled to a favourable consideration on principles of equity, justice, reason, morality, or sound policy. Tallahassee, Feb. 9th, 1835.

THE HON. JOHN WARREN,

President of the Legislative Council:

Sir—A Communication over the signature of “One of the People” which was published in the Floridian, of the 7th inst. I consider to be of an offensive character, and calculated to mislead the public as to the course of Legislation pursued by the present Council. The communication was offered at a late hour and was inserted on the pledge of the writer that it contained nothing offensive. Had the Editor been acquainted with its libellous character it would not have appeared without being accompanied by such remarks as would have rendered it harmless. It is not true that any exclusive privileges are granted in the Rail Road Charter referred to, or any thing calculated to prejudice the Middle District, on the contrary, the St. Marks Rail Road connecting with the line of Steamboats from Suwannee westward, will more effectually make Tallahassee the centre of trade for a large district of country than a direct route to the eastward. It is not true that the faith of the Territory is pledged for eight millions to any corporation.—Neither is it true that any application for a Rail Road Charter has been ungraciously received by the Council. On the contrary, the one alluded to has been received in the usual manner—has been referred to a committee, ordered to be printed, and will doubtless receive all the consideration which it may deserve. A reference to the Legislation of the present and former Councils, will show that no unfriendly feeling has ever existed towards the Middle District as was fully shown by the establishment of the Union Bank, a measure which has resulted almost exclusively for the benefit of this District, and raised it to an unexampled degree of prosperity. The other subject of complaint embraced by the writer, the removal of the seat of Government from Tallahassee, will probably prove equally groundless. This letter is written to show that the Editor disapproves of both the matter and manner of the communication signed by “One of the People” and particularly this attempt to excite sectional prejudices in the Territory and to carry measures by exciting local feelings.

Yours respectfully,

WM. WILSON.

The following question was then propounded to Mr. Wilson, Did you, or did you not, intend to commit a contempt of the Legislative Council by publishing in the Floridian of the 7th inst., said article under the signature of “One of the People”—He answered—“I did not.” Whereupon, on motion of Mr. Blount, Mr. Wilson was discharged from further attendance at the bar of the House.

Mr. President laid before the Legislative Council, the following Executive communication:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, }

Feb. 10th, 1835. }

To the Legislative Council:

I have carefully taken into consideration an Act submitted to me, entitled “an Act to Incorporate the Southern Life Insurance and Trust Company.” To its general provisions no objection is entertained; my purpose is to present to you certain alterations and amendments, which to me, appear necessary, to carry out these objects, which doubtless, the Legislature in enacting it, had in view.

Mortgaged corporations are always matters of hazard, from an entertained idea that once created, they are beyond the reach of future Legislation; if this be correct, it is obvious that the dangers attendant on their creation should be avoided, by embodying in their charters, such safe guards and securities, as may have a tendency to advance the benefits contemplated to arise, and at the same time, to restrain those evils and inconveniences which frequently occur, when even the greatest care and caution to prevent them are consulted.

This act of the Legislative Council, is advocated on the ground, that mortgaged facilities will be offered; and by it, advantages, correspondent to those which are possessed by the middle, will accrue to the Eastern section of the Territory. The argument is a reasonable one. But while it is urged, care should be taken, that the copy does not surpass the original. Even when benefits are to be obtained, through any act of legislation, it is worthy to be considered, whether, they may not, and are not, sometimes, secured at too great sacrifice.

The guarantee of a State or Territory, is nothing more than a mere promise to do a particular act. There is no compulsory authority whereby the fulfilment of the promise can be enforced; it is but the assurance of plighted faith; tho’ it is that, which the sovereignty making it, will always be careful to redeem. If then from any unforeseen casualty, this chartered Company shall fail or omit to discharge its incurred obligations, a liability on the part of this Territory will arise; and hence does prudence dictate to the Representatives, that an offered guarantee of the public faith, shall not be carried beyond a point of safety to those whose interests are here represented. For great objects of internal improvement to the country, such as promise important benefits to a community in after time, a plausibility, and perhaps a right may exist, for the present age, to impose burthens and taxes upon those who are to follow after. But that right, it is conceived, cannot attach in form of a speculative measure which may eventuate well; but which being dependent for success on various contingencies may, by possibility turn out badly.

The 21st Section of the bill is considered objectionable. In the first place, it is inexplicit, too much so to be executed. It declares that the Governor shall endorse the faith of the Territory on “certificates of such deposits as the company shall from time to time determine on.” To this, what is the construction to be given? An ordinary, usual certificate of deposit, —such as is understood by the mercantile community, is, where with a view to a safe remittance, an individual places money in some Bank, and receives in writing an admission that the deposit is made, and that the amount will be paid to the rightful holder of the produced certificate, and which when produced is paid and cancelled. But by the friends of the act it is asserted, that this is not the meaning which is intended to be conveyed by the words employed in this Section—that they are intended to have a more enlarged interpretation. This probably is true, because while a corporation remains solvent and in good credit, a guarantee of such papers would be of little or no value; nor could they prove at all serviceable in increasing the capital stock, or giving additional credit to the institution.

The precise meaning of the expression then, as it was intended, must be that these certificates of deposit are in the nature of obligations—promises on the part of the Territory, to be answerable for the liabilities of this company, at some future time (tho’ at what time is not stated) whereby to enable the company “to make loans and discounts beyond the limits of its capital;” and to effect these objects, the faith of Florida is to be the guarantee.

A prudent dealer does not permit himself to be drawn on, without having some precise period agreed upon, at which the bill shall reach maturity. If he expects to be punctual, and hopes to sustain his credit, he will practice this precaution, that he may make all necessary arrangements to be in readiness to meet his engagements. For the same reason States and Territories, and corporations, should pursue a similar course, lest when the time arrives to redeem any given pledge, they may not be ready to do so. Suppose this company shall issue certificates to be endorsed by the Governor, payable at intermediate periods of twelve and sixty months, and there is nothing in the act to prevent it, is it dreamed of, that the Territory could discharge them at maturity? But the charter requires that the company shall take care to pay these liabilities. But where is the guarantee for it? This Territory is not by the act, declared to be a preferred creditor, on account of its undertakings, and liabilities; nor is their a lien given, by which the mortgaged property of the company can be resorted to. In the event of any resulting default, Florida will be placed in the attitude merely of a general creditor, to be settled with just as other claimants and creditors will be. The only penalty, and the alone security to be relied on, for neglecting to discharge the principal and interest of the bonds, is that the Territory is authorised to have the privilege of a law suit with the company, which will neither preserve credit nor pay the debt incurred by the guarantee.

As the Legislature at the session of 1833 granted a charter to the Union Bank, which has given facilities and benefits to this section of country, it is insisted that like advantages should be extended to the Eastern section of Florida; and arguments have been thence adduced in support of the principles which are contained in the act under consideration. It is proper therefore to institute a comparison, and to run a parallel, by which material differences will be seen in favor of the safety which is offered to the Territory by the one, which is not contained in the other.

1st. Valuers in the several counties, to be appointed by the Governor, and approved by the Council, are made necessary that no mortgaged estate be imposed for discount on the Bank, beyond its probable and true value; and with a view to still greater caution, the Directors are possessed with authority to reduce even this valuation when made. The act before me contains no such wholesome provisions.

2d. Five of the twelve Directors chosen to supervise the concerns of the Bank, are the constituted agents, by the Governor and Council, on behalf of the Territory, who are chosen annually (not during good behaviour) and whose duty it will be from time to time, to make known any practised wrong on the part of the board. In twelve months much injury and wrong might be done, and yet it is but annually that the public, with all its weighty responsibilities, are to be informed of the state and condition and situation of this company. The Territory should have directors associated who are not stockholders, and who consequently will be without interest and motive to do wrong, that her rights and liabilities may be guarded and protected.

3d. The Territorial bonds issued to the Bank, are of ascertained amount, and are made payable at distant and at certain periods, so that if from casualty or mismanagement, a liability shall threaten to arise, timely notice will be had for such arrangements to be gone into, as may provide with certainty for the ultimate redemption of those obligations.

4th. One million of dollars, with the privilege of increasing it to three, is the declared capital of the Union Bank; and bonds only to that precise amount are appropriated, and required to be issued; whereas, the Trust Company may increase their capital from two to four millions, and the Governor is directed to guaranty their certificates of deposit to double that amount.

5th. For the guarantee given to the Bank thro' the bonds issued by the Territory, a lien is created in the 8th Section of the charter, on the mortgaged property of its debtors; and besides this most salutary arrangement, the Bank has undertaken and agreed to pay a bonus of a moiety of all its property, which as the dividends are retained, and are hence cumulative, cannot fail to be considerable, should the institution be prudently and fortunately managed.

6th. That the people generally might possess themselves of the privileges and advantages intended by the charter of the Union Bank, it is provided in the 4th Section of the act, that if more than the authorised amount of stock was subscribed the larger stockholders should be curtailed. It was a salutary provision, to prevent a few persons from monopolising privileges and rights which were intended for the community at large. The Trust charter under consideration, contains no such advantageous restriction. Ten stockholders, that being the required number, to constitute a board of directors, may engross the entire stock; and having engrossed it, are clothed with power and authority, to wield and control the credit and liabilities of this territory, to the enormous amount of eight millions of dollars.

This hastily drawn parallel will show that while valuable safeguards are contained in the charter of the Union Bank, that of the Trust Company is without them. One other might have been beneficially resorted to, an inhibition to receive real estate upon mortgage, unless within the Territory; and it is a provision that should be inserted in the present charter, or otherwise the mortgages received may be situated in the States where no legislation or lien to be derived under the charter can be rendered available. The property being mortgaged to the company at a fair valuation and being within your jurisdiction and limits, with a lien created, no objection to extending the guarantee to the extent of their valuation can be perceived; and more should not be asked; or if asked, should not be granted. It is proper also, that some visitatorial right be retained, especially to see that estates be not pledged to the company at too extravagant a valuation.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE.
February 12th, 1835.

To the Legislative Council:

I return to you the Act asked for, entitled an Act to Incorporate the Southern Life Insurance and Trust Company.

It did not accompany my first communication made to you, because there were printed bills in the possession of the House which afforded all the information which the particular enactments of the enrolled one contained; and which the Council could require. The Act sent to me, was not disapproved; my message contained reasons and suggestions which I thought, if adopted, would improve the Charter of the Act, and carry out more effectually, and securely, those objects, which I presumed the Legislature had in view in passing it. Hence did I infer, that neither reason nor the law demanded, or required, it to be returned. I entertain still the same opinion; and comply with the request preferred to me now by the Council, more in a spirit of harmony and courtesy than from any opinion entertained that my first view of this subject is at all incorrect.

JOHN H. EATON.

Which was read, whereupon Mr. Downing moved that the House do now order the Act to be enrolled so as to conform to the amendments just adopted, which motion prevailed, and was agreed to by the House.

Whereas, the increasing labors of the Judges of the Eastern and Western Districts of Florida, render it impossible that said Judges can attend to the various Counties of said Districts to hold the Courts therein, and to dispense equal justice amongst the good citizens of this Territory; and whereas several of the Counties of said Districts are now deprived of a Superior Court from the utter inability of said Judges to perform the travel and labor which would be imposed on them by the establishment of a Superior Court in each of said Counties,

It is therefore Resolved, That our Delegate in Congress be, and he is hereby requested, to endeavor to obtain by all means in his power, the establishment, in this Territory, of a new Judicial District, to be called the Judicial District of Suwannee, and to be composed of the Counties of Madison, Hamilton, Columbia, Alachua, and Hillsborough.

Be it further Resolved, That that this resolution be signed by the President of this Legislative Council and handed to the Governor of this Territory for his approval, and forthwith forwarded to our Delegate in Congress.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE.

February 14th, 1834. }

To the Legislative Council:

The Act, entitled an Act, to incorporate the South Florida Land Company, I return. It is objected to. By its provisions, authority is given to the company to buy and sell real estate &c. For Banking incorporations to hold a greater quantity of real estate than is absolutely necessary to erect buildings to carry on their business, has been held objectionable, because adverse to the true policy of the Government. In the United States the strong desire entertained, is to bind everyone in warm affection to the institutions and government of the country; and to this end, as far as practicable, it should be considered advisable to preserve to individuals the right of freehold. But if the policy and principles asserted in this act, become general through our country, these incorporated companies may engross the most valuable lands, and finally establish a system of tenantry, than which nothing is more detrimental to the interest of a free people. So regardful has Congress been in this respect, that lands granted to a corporation carry a limitation as to tenure. The Township of land in this Territory, which was conceded to the Deaf and Dumb Asylum of Kentucky, contained a clause which compelled the trustees to dispose of the same within a limited period of time.

In a new country the assertion of the principle may not be very hazardous; but where principle is concerned, circumstances should not change it.

Again the bill is defective in this, that no restraint is imposed whereby to prevent one or a few persons from engrossing the whole stock.

The 11th section is to me ambiguous and doubtful in its construction.

I object also to the Act, to abolish the Territorial Taxes. It provides that County Courts may reduce the amount of taxes in their respective counties. An essential principle with all governments is that taxes shall be uniform; and that all, under like circumstances, shall equally contribute to the support of government. This result under the present act will not be obtained. In some counties the taxes may not be reduced at all; in others the reduction may be a half, third, or more, at the discretion of the court. Being interested, the rivalry with the courts will be to reduce all assessments, as low as possible; at any rate, it is not presumable that the several counties, acting separately, can fix upon the same assessment, and consequently a uniformity of taxation, always material, will be departed from.

It is objectionable moreover, in this, that all monies received are to be paid for county purposes, which will cut off the revenue of the Territory, and thus leave debts and claims which are outstanding, unprovided for. Furthermore, each county is subjected to the cost of its own criminal prosecutions. Some of them are unable to do this, and hence, being unable to encounter the expenses, such criminals will be turned loose, free of the fear of punishment. The Territory is one community, and its legislation should proceed upon that principle, so that the stronger shall give aid and assistance to the weaker parts. It is all important, too, that a regular system of revenue should always be kept up in a community. The assessments upon the people being economically imposed, and judiciously expended, succeeds best in rendering them prosperous.

I object to, and return to you, the Act entitled an Act to establish two terms of the Superior court at Eatonton in Columbia county, for the reasons assigned upon the return of a similar bill of the county of Madison.

JOHN H. EATON.

Whereupon it is ordered that the said Acts therein named and returned to the Council, be reconsidered, and placed among the orders for to-day.

Mr. President laid before the House a letter from John Baldwin, containing proposals for finding, siting, and half binding the laws, which was read and laid on the table.
